

Kevin G. Clarkson  @AGKevinClarkson · 59m

Replying to @CarberryMatthew @DermotMCole and @mayorethananc

You are correct. A law can be within a local govt's power to enact and yet be challenged by citizens as unconstitutional. And local laws are always subject to preemption by the State. Here the Governor chose to preempt the Mayor's mandate, but only for state buildings/facilities.

1

