

But Obamacare has been repealed in this bill. We didn't want to bring it up. I told people specifically, "Be quiet with the fake news media because I don't want them talking too much about it." Because I didn't know how people would – but now that it's approved, I can say the individual mandate on health care – where you had to pay not to have insurance – OK, think of that one: You pay not to have insurance – the individual mandate has been repealed.

The other one is ANWR. So a friend of mine who was in the oil business said, "I can't believe it, ANWR." They've been trying to get it for 40 years – 40 years. And I didn't know that. We have ANWR. We're going to start drilling at ANWR, one of the largest oil reserves in the world, that for 40 years this country was unable to touch.

That by itself would be a massive bill. It'll be one of our biggest – one of our biggest oil reserves. It's one of the biggest in the world. Puts us at a level that we're not even at now. And we're doing very well in terms of, as you know, energy. But ANWR by itself would be a big bill.

But that's when it hit me, when he said, "You know, they've been trying to get that – the Bushes, everybody, all the way back to Reagan." Reagan tried to get it, Bush tried to get it, everybody tried to get it. They couldn't get it passed. That just happens to be here. And we did that at the request of the two great senators from the state of Alaska, which is a very special place.

But I will tell you, ANWR is a big, big deal. It's not ever mentioned by the press, and that was fine until now. Now you can mention it.

So we're going to have tremendous energy coming out of that part of the world. And people have wanted to do it for 40 years.

So with that, I'm going to ask Ben Carson – and you can stay if you want to, because you need the prayer more than I do, I think. You may be the only one.

(LAUGHTER)