

(U//~~FOUO~~) Investigator's Note: The 596 questionable hours do not take into account the time OIG was able to identify from [redacted] Lotus Notes, calendar and SameTime chats that she spent participating in the Agency Christian Fellowship (ACF) or other Bible studies with friends, having lunch in the cafeteria, and interviewing employees for a book she had intended on writing. This time would be additional time during which [redacted] was present in the workplace and not conducting official work. In addition, the OIG reviewed [redacted] Agency Internet Network (AIN) account which consisted of 5.15 gigabytes of material. There were dozens of personal folders and documents related to her church activities saved on her AIN.